FEEDING EXPERTS TO COME HERE SATURDAY

Interesting Program Arranged For Visit of Cattle Specialists From Experiment Station

Plans for a big day here Saturday, March 19 with the beef cattle feeders are being made by the staff of the State Experiment Station, at Lexington.

A local committee has been appointed consisting of Jephtha Jett, Tom Collins and Charles H. Jett, to have charge of arrangements. The program will consist of visits to a number of farms in Madison where beef cattle are being fed out both for fattening in the dry lot or to be finished on grass. It is planned to visit four or five of these in the morning and hold a meeting to which all interested are invited in the court house in the afternoon.

Several of the experts will make short talks on subjects of interest to the cattlemen.

Wayland Rhoades, extension specialist of beef production at the Experiment Station, will talk on "The Factors Which Influenced Profits in Steer Feeding Last Year."

Prof. E. S. Good will talk on "Some Results on Experimental Steer Feeding at the Kentucky Experiment Station."

Morgan Hughes, of Bowling Green, will speak on "The Present Trend of Livestock Conditions."

The meeting will be open to everyone, with no admission, and will undoubtedly be attended by a large number of Madison county farmers.

HAY CROPS COME TO FRONT IN KENTUCKY

(By Associated Press)

Louisville, Ky., March 16—Hay crops to feed Kentucky's rapidly growing number of cattle and other livestock are rapidly coming to the front, says Geoffrey Morgan, secretary of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation.

There has been a tremendous increase in the alfalfa and red clover crops, he says, a large increase in sweet clover and soy beans.

Ohio county, he said, alone produces more soy beans than the state did a few years ago.

The state has come to the front as a livestock producing state in recent years. Statistics show Kentucky recently made the largest per cent of increase in cattle in the union.

Poultry raising is another farm feature that is being developed.

Kentucky famous for its horses breeds fewer by three per cent than it did several years ago, Mr. Morgan said.

More Strawberry Associations

(By Associated Press)

Louisville, March 16—Bowling Green has lost the name of being the only city with a Strawberry Growers' Association, according to Geoffrey Morgan, secretary of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation.

Due to the large increase in strawberry raising in recent years exchanges have been established and are now in existence in Paducah, Pimlico, and Russellville, in western Kentucky.

It is being found, he said, that Warren and Barren counties are not the only ones in the western part of the state that can produce berries of exceptional flavor.

SUES GOVERNMENT FOR $5,000 DAMAGES

Jalier Burgess Files Petition in Federal Court Showing Damage to Farm by Back Water

The first suit to be filed against the United States of America in Federal Court here in a long time, has been lodged with Deputy Federal Clerk Miss Sara Monday by William H. Burgess, jailer of Madison county, and owner of a large farm which lies on the Kentucky river. Through his attorney, A. R. Burnam, Mr. Burgess asks $5,000 from the government for damage done to his farm by back water from the river, backing up Little Pole Cat Creek, which runs through his farm.

Mr. Burgess' farm consists of 243.33 acres, lying on the river above Lock No. 11. Little Pole Cat Creek cuts off 100 acres of the land from the tract. To reach the tract on the other side of the creek, Burgess built a bridge. For several years, he claims in his petition, back water from the river inundated his land causing small damage, but he did not complain or contemplate suit, until the steel shutter at the top of the lock was removed in 1919 and 1920 and a concrete dam, six feet high, was put on in its place. Since then the water at times of heavy rains and freshets has been up in the creek from the river in such quantities that the bridge has been inundated and rendered useless, and the 100 acres cut off almost completely. Ingress and egress from this land is only possible at such times through the lands of others, over which he has no right of way. In addition to this, about 10 acres of the rest of the farm are so deeply covered by water that it is rendered wet, sloppy and unfit for use. Mr. Burgess says that these ten acres are reasonably worth $150 an acre or $1,500, and he estimated the damage to the remainder of his land at $3,500, thus making the $5,000 damages asked from the government. Uncle Sam, of course, as is well known, controls ownership and control of all rivers and harbors of the country and such a suit must be brought against the government and in federal courts.

R. L. CONLEE LOSES BROTHER IN FAYETTE

(By Associated Press)

Wm. J. Baxter, County Attorney of Jessamine county, was in Richmond Tuesday night and announced his candidacy for the democratic nomination for Commonwealth's Attorney, subject to the action of the primary on August 6th.

Mr. Baxter has a number of relatives and warm friends here who have assured him of substantial and enthusiastic support it is understood.

He is a young man, who comes splendidly recommended to the democracy and voters of this judicial district, which is composed of the counties of Madison, Jessamine, Clark and Powell counties. He makes his formal announcement in the following card to the voters:

To the Democratic Voters of the 25th Judicial District:

I beg to announce my candidacy for the democratic nomination for the honorable and responsible position of Commonwealth Attorney for the 25th Judicial district of Kentucky, composed of the counties of Madison, Clark, Powell and Jessamine.

Being a practicing attorney of Nicholasville, having been admitted to the bar in 1911, and have served the people of Jessamine county as county attorney, which office I now hold.

Being a native of Jessamine county and my ancestors have resided there for more than a century. In the county of my birth it is wholly unnecessary to state that I am a democrat, but for a better introduction to the people of the district, affirm that I am a democrat, came from democratic parentage and therefore since my earliest manhood have by breeding, from principle and by choice affiliated with the great democratic party, have adopted its tenets, and as such now come as an humble worker in the ranks, to ask your sufferance and support in the furthering of an ambition to serve as Commonwealth's Attorney.

There are many people of the west think the south is asleep. If they are, why is it that Lenoir county, North Carolina, voted $2,000,000 for good roads?

When bond issue is voted, do you know that only four cents on each dollar leaves the state?

The safe in the Boston Shoe Store on Fourth street, Louisville was blown open Saturday night and robbed of $200. Nearly $4,000 had been taken out of it and put in the bank just before dark.

Voting for Good Roads

Cuyahoga county, Ohio, recently voted $3,000,000 to build permanent roads. Lodge county, Wisconsin, voted $5,000,000.

ANNOUNCES FOR COMMONWEALTH'S ATTORNEY

WM. J. BAXTER
Candidate for Commonwealth's Attorney—25th Judicial District

Trusting that I may have the pleasure of meeting in person every man and woman in the district, and it shall be my effort to do so. Soliciting the support of the citizenship of the 25th Judicial district, and assuring all of my never-ceasing gratitude for any aid or support in the contest for this nomination.

With great respect, I beg to subscribe myself, your obedient servant,

W. J. BAXTER,
Nicholasville, Ky.

From His Home Paper

The Jessamine Journal has the following concerning the candidacy of Mr. Baxter, which will be read with interest here, as indicating how he is regarded in his home town where every man is best known. The Journal says:

William J. Baxter, county attorney of Jessamine county, has announced his candidacy for Commonwealth's Attorney of the 25th district, composed of the counties of Jessamine, Madison, Clark and Powell, subject to the action of the democratic primary.

August 6, 1921. Mr. Baxter was born in the Logana neighborhood, this county, and was reared and has lived all his life in Jessamine. He attended school and graduated from the Nicholasville public schools and holds a four year course, Bachelor of Arts, and year course, Bachelor of Law, at degrees at Kentucky State University.

Upon graduating in law he took practice in Nicholasville, and later was elected county attorney to fill out the unexpired term of the late W. M. Watts, and later nominated and elected for a full term without opposition. He has made an energetic, careful, efficient official, and now seeks an advancement which his friends think he deserves. He has all his life been interested in farming and actively identified with every thing in which the farmer is concerned. His democracy is "all wool and a yard wide."

There have been but few campaigns since he attained his majority that he has not lent a helping hand, and his services have always been in demand at party conferences and during a speaking campaign. He is a forceful speaker, a vigorous prosecutor, and those who know him do not question his ability to do honor and justice to the important office of Commonwealth's Attorney.

When elected to this important office I promise to discharge its duties to the best of my ability, without fear or favor. Prophets and Powder

Anyone who hasn't been strictly excluded from feminine companionship comes to the conclusion sooner or later that woman is the same world over, and that she hasn't changed a great deal from the time of Eve to the passing of the eighteenth amendment.

Man hasn't changed much, either. He's still fool enough, as a rule, to think he knows something about the other sex, and he still struts around and tells himself that he is the boss.

John Knox, that staid and reverend Presbyterian of a bygone age, was such a man. His "Blasts of the Trumpet Against the Monstrous Regiment of Women" was directed at Mary, Queen of Scots and other beautiful women of the day. Mr. Knox was peevish because they were so doggone easy to look at, or at least that is about what a modern peruser of his "Blasts" will gather.

The same sort of ire arouses Overseer Voliva, of Zion, Ill., the successor of Dowie, the prophet.

Women who go to the Zion tabernacle and powder their noses are sacrilegious, Voliva says. He has just issued a warning that he will lecture any powdered ladies in the congregation and that he will slap 'em, too.

Now, Mr. Voliva, be reasonable. We say it for your own protection. You may get away with the lecture, but, Mr. Voliva, a slapped woman, powder or no powder, is something to look out for.

Appreciation of the Local Paper

Too few people think of the right way of expressing their obligations to a newspaper. For example, when the newspapers of Trenton took over little job shop, the record showed that it had for many years done all sorts of job work for churches and other organizations and for many of the professional men. Now, for 50 years Col. Rogers has been printing free all sorts of church notices, missionary meeting and aid societies, reports of literary societies, clubs and notices that Dr. —— had been called to see this and that sick person, and that a certain great legal case was handled by the well-known and able lawyer, Mr. ——, and yet when many of the churches and clubs and organizations had a cash job to give out they forgot the newspapers. The newspapers of the west are always to be found promoting all good causes, and we are inclined to think that in a case of not "thinking" when people who should feel under an obligation to a newspaper fail to take pay work there.—Trenton (Mo.) HAVE CLUB FOR
ARTISTS' MODELS

"Magazine Cover Girls" Ask to Be Taken Seriously.

MATRON DELIVERS LECTURE

Hands a Few Remarks to Broadway
Don Juan Who Has Followed One of the Girls—Posing Is Hard Work and Models Are Not Given Much More Consideration Than Formerly —Not All Models In Greatest Demand Are Beautiful, But All Are Distinctive.

To have the artist's model taken seriously is the purpose of an interesting club which has its headquarters in an old-fashioned house on West Fifty-eighth street, New York. Pass this house at any hour during the day, and, if you are lucky, you are apt to see its ancient door creak open and the original of your favorite magazine-cover girl trip sedately down the steps. For the house is usually full of them. It has about 150 such enchanting damsels on its membership list.

But they are to be taken seriously. Don't forget that.

The other day, a Broadway Don Juan, bewitched at the sight of his favorite bathing girl picture actually walking down Seventh avenue—not in a bathing suit, you understand, but recognizable, nevertheless—proceeded to accompany her at a discreet distance as she turned down Fifty-eighth street. When she left the pavement and ran up a pair of steps, he stopped in his tracks and stared in deep preoccupation at the door where she had vanished.

Suddenly the door opened a second time, and a gray-haired, sweet-faced matron came out.

Matron Delivers Lecture.

"Young man, what do you mean by following one of our girls?" demanded the lady, quietly but firmly. "Now, suppose you just run along back to Broadway, where you belong. The girls in this club are nice, quiet, refined girls, and they don't want to be annoyed, and, furthermore, we are not going to have a lot of idle, gaping men standing out here in front of our house."

Thus did the secretary of the club, as she later explained to the reporter, nipp in the bud a movement on the part of the male population of New York to give the club its enthusiastic endorsement.

"The attitude of the public, especially the masculine public, toward the artist's model," said the secretary sadly, "is much the same as it is toward the chorus girl—entirely frivolous. It is also incurably romantic. People seem to have an idea that an artist's model is a gay young thing, who earns an easy, if not luxurious, living by posing for fascinating artists with long hair or oriental fez, if they have bald heads. Now, as a matter of fact, posing is hard work, and until recently the average artist's model has been poorly paid and has been given about as much consideration as a table or chair."

Getting Jobs for Models.

Here the telephone on the secretary's desk burst noisily into her confidence and she grabbed a notebook and pen.

"Excuse me just a minute," she said, taking up the instrument. "Yes, I think we have just the girl you need—Miss ——.

You know her? Too thin? I don't believe we have anybody plumper. We consider her one of the plumpest girls we have. About 150 pounds, I should say, but tall and well proportioned. Yes, I think you might be able to use her face, too. She's a good Spanish type. Well, she lives right up in your neighborhood—suppose I have her come in and see you, anyway? If she doesn't suit, perhaps we can get you some one else. Miss ——, whom you had before, will be back from Havana Friday."

The secretary then explained that the club runs an employment bureau for its members, who are all registered and classified by types. Posers are somewhat like private nursing; a girl never knows how long her job is going to last or how much money it is going to pay her. Some artists take a long time to complete their work, and others work very fast. Some can afford to pay a high rate for a model, and others can scarcely afford to employ one at all. But conditions in this respect are better for posers than they have ever been before, thanks to the persistent mercenary efforts of the club.

A good model can now demand and collect a dollar an hour for her work, at which rate some of them make as much as $8 a day.

Besides its employment bureau, the Art Workers' club, as it is called, operates a restaurant on the first floor of the house, which serves excellent meals at cost, while five o'clock tea is served every afternoon absolutely free. To this artists, as well as models, are invited, since, as the secretary explained, the chief effort of the club is to bring the two factions together for the promotion of a better understanding.

John Rattray was desperate and almost reckless in his outlook upon life, but he was horrified at the wholesale murder at sea committed in furtherance of a scheme in which he had become involved.

He was fiercely opposed to the additional murder of George Stevenson Cole, which Santos, Captain Harris and Jose were eager to accomplish. Even Rattray cool headed as he was in a way, was inclined to let the plotters kill Cole when he learned the Garrison was his rival for the hand of Eva Denison.

Weber Wagon Value

At half price
would you purchase any automobile in 60-inch track?

At half price
could you sell to a farmer any automobile in 60-inch track?

Why mislead a farmer into buying a farm wagon that won't track with the automobile?

What better path could a wagon use than the one made as shown above?

When you purchase a Weber Farm Wagon you get more than just a farm wagon. That fact alone is worth looking into.

Some wagons are sold more for the purpose of making a sale and as large a profit as possible than for giving service.

Some dealers are antagonistic to the Standard Track (the one track for every section of the United States) for farm wagons; the 56-inch auto track (not wide or narrow) because they have not got the agency for the Weber.

Some dealers will talk a farmer into buying a 60-inch old-track farm wagon, but when such a dealer goes into the country on business or pleasure does he use a 60-inch track farm wagon, leaving his automobile at home because the 56-inch track is wrong? NO, he uses 56-inch track to go anywhere and everywhere.

Ask the dealers selling automobiles if they have any trouble selling 56-inch track—if they could sell automobiles in 60-inch track even at half price. The answer will be NO.

What track should your new farm wagon be? The Standard 56-inch track, which is neither wide nor narrow.

gather that they have the effect of lengthening the pelupon.

The dainty blouse at the left makes use of two colors in georgette, a dark shade for the body and a light color for a border at neck, sleeves and pelupon. Needlework and flower motifs in silk floss repeat the colors in the blouse. The narrow ribbon girdle slips through four tabs, two at the front and two at the back, which are merely extensions of the border decorated with embroidered flowers. The girdle is in a little bow at the side.

An interesting and pretty decoration in late arrivals among blouses appears in patent leather, which is cut out to represent grapes, acorns, cherries, etc. They are set in foliage embroidered with silk floss matching the blouse in color. Girdles are not always simple—decorations of this kind are often placed on them, or narrow, plaited frills or embroideries.

"Thine Is the Glory"

This painting, which hangs in National Headquarters of the American Red Cross, Washington, depicts the homage of America's fallen men to American womanhood as mobilized for service in the World War by this organization. It is the collaborative scientific and art creation of Major Joseph Gray Ritchie, late of the General Staff, U. S. A., and Paul Louis Mora of the New York School of Art. The face of the central figure is a composite of the features of a thousand Red Cross workers selected for the purpose.

SUNDAY SCORES DANCE AND CARD AMUSEMENT

Also Backsliders Before Another Great Congregation in Cincinnati Revival

Cincinnati, March 16—Faced by the greatest week-day throng of the revival campaign—it was comparable only to the record-breaking gathering of last Sunday night—Billy Sunday, in his sermon last night, denounced the backsliders in religion and urged all to adhere to the teachings of Christ from beginning to end.

Before Mr. Sunday sat a delegation of 3,000 working girls from the offices and industrial plants of Cincinnati, and it was to this delegation that the evangelist directed many of his remarks.

As on Sunday night, the building was packed to its capacity of more than 7,000 persons, an hour before the service was to open. Thousands were turned away, unable to obtain admittance.

Mr. Sunday, speaking directly to the working girls, cited their ability to do things in business as proof of his conclusion that the women can do more than to "dollop camouflage and bang up."

With a string of jokes that brought great waves of laughter from every part of the tabernacle Mr. Sunday led up to his subject declaring on the way that "religion is not for time, not for money, not for politics, but is for God, for life and death, for better or worse to be carefully considered before you can take a step and set your face like a flint and never deviate from the path that God lays down for you to walk in."

Mr. Sunday took a firm stand against splitting up the Sabbath in an emphatic declaration against Sunday-opening of stores.

"I would never buy a dollar's worth of goods," he declared, from the man who keeps his store open on Sunday.

"It's one thing to be a member of the church and another thing to be a member of the body of Jesus Christ," he asserted. "The two terms ought to be synonymous, but they are not."

Dancing and card playing were put under the ban in no uncertain terms.

"Dancing and card playing are more bitter enemies of the church than the saloon ever was," Mr. Sunday declared at one point, "but don't get into your nut from that, that I ever was in favor of the saloon."

Mr. Sunday jumped with both feet on the backslider, citing several instances that had come to his attention. In startling contrast to these recitals, he related the pathetic story of Robert E. Lee, who, he said, turned down a munificent offer to head a lottery with his name, an offer he refused because it would compromise him in the eyes of mankind.

My father was a Union soldier, but I take off my hat to Robert E. Lee," Sunday declared with much feeling.

Mr. Sunday again rapped the double standard of morals, and declared he is for the single standard. He condemned the action of men in holding women to one standard of life, for many a man does things he would not want painting costs with a brush instead of a pencil—

You can't figure the cost of painting by figuring what the paint costs per gallon.

What you want to know is how much the paint covers, how well it covers and how long it takes a man and brush to do the work.

One way to figure is with a pencil. The right way is with a brush. Figure this way and you will use Lowe Brothers High Standard Liquid Paint. And once you use it, you'll always use this paint and no other. Tell us about your painting needs and we will give you some eye-opening facts based on brush figures.

Ship From Which Boy Rescued 45

The wrecked British steamer Ausgir, which went ashore in Mount's bay, Penzance, England, during a gale, and from which a mere boy rescued the crew of 45. The vessel was much farther from shore at the time, and the sea was too heavy for boats. An apprentice named Davis, from Birmingham, volunteered to swim ashore. With a light line about him, and with a life jacket and life-buoy, the lad nearly reached the shore, when he became exhausted and would have been dashed to pieces had not three fishermen rescued him. A lawnmower was finally drawn from the ship, and 20 of the crew were ashore on this. Later a rocket was shot to the ship and a breeches buoy hoisted up which saved the remainder of the crew.

THIS CITY BUILT WHILE YOU WAIT

Fourth Largest Town in Alabama
Full Grown in One Year.

HAD A MODEL GOVERNMENT

Permanent Settlement Around
U. S. Nitrate Plant Presented Unusual Problems.

By GARRET SMITH.

The fourth largest city in Alabama, peopled with 25,000 souls of diverse races and religions, sprouted from scattered communities in every part of the United States and Canada, sprung into being almost overnight around the great new government ammonium nitrate plant down on the open cotton and corn fields at Muscle Shoals on the Tennessee River during the last year of the World War. It was a problem in city building, rural government and community welfare that has seldom been equalled and the success of its solution is never been exceeded.

The job was in the hands of the A. Nitrate Corporation which had been organized under the direction of the Ordnance Department to build plant and city at Muscle Shoals. Early in January, 1918, this new town had a few temporary buildings and a population of 300. This had jumped by the middle of August to more than 21,000. A population multiplied by 70 in months.

In the management of the new towns and army cantonments that sprang up during the war the acute evils that attended the growth of mushroom cities have been avoided by the application of modern welfare systems. But nowhere were conditions more difficult than at Muscle Shoals. Here was a malarial region threatened at the same time with other deadly disease epidemics. Transportation was lacking. No near labor was available and the general labor shortage was at its most acute stage. Costs of labor and supplies were leaping over night. Furthermore Muscle Shoals differed from all the other new war towns inasmuch as it was to be permanent.

New Government Devolved.

The managers, besides city government, had to handle the entire retail business of the town. A camp supervisor's department was put in charge of the maintenance of all buildings, fire protection and sanitation. The camp supervisor looked after every thing from the mending of a lock to the remodeling of groups of buildings or laying sewers or steam mains. To the bachelor contingent a commissary department was necessary.

The business department managed the stores, canteens, motion picture theaters, pool parlors, tailor shops, dry cleaning establishments, barbershops, newsstands, a hotel, a vegetable farm and a hog farm where 1,000 hogs were raised on the wastes from eating places. It maintained a slaughter house where these hogs were put through the regular packing house course. It operated a laundry which cleaned 7,493 pieces a day. Then there was a real estate department which rented and managed the family quarters and a housing department which assigned to quarters everybody excepting the families.

Under separate jurisdiction from its community director were the police.

The health department, in charge of a physician from New York City, started with a small office in one of the temporary buildings, and was soon full grown and splendidly equipped. Conditions were favorable to disease.

The winter was the severest on record in northern Alabama.

The men were compelled to work either in deep snow or mud above their knees. As a result a pneumonia epidemic developed among the Negroes that spring. Later in the year in January cigar production decreased 30 per cent compared with January last year and 8 per cent compared with December; manufactured tobacco output was 25 per cent smaller than in January last year, and 60 per cent greater than in December.

CITY FOREMAN THOUGHT HE WOULD SMOTHER

Restored to Perfect Health by Tanlac a Year Ago, Joel Ward Still Enjoys Splendid Health—Gains Twenty Pounds

"I got rid of my awful stomach trouble and gained twenty pounds a year ago taking Tanlac and I certainly have felt fine ever since," said Joel Ward, 1655 13th Ave., Huntington, W. Va., foreman of the City Incinerator.

"Everything I ate made me miserable afterwards. Sometimes my stomach would burn like fire and I would have smothering spells. Sometimes when I was at work a dizzy spell would come on and I would get so faint and nauseated I would have to knock off work. I was so nervous and miserable and got so thin and rundown I began to think my days of usefulness were about over. To make matters worse, the rheumatism settled in my ankle so bad I just had to hobble around.

"Tanlac went after my troubles and in a short time I didn't look or feel like the same man. I soon had my lost strength back and some extra pounds besides. I now get as hungry as a bear three times a day, eat anything I want and digest it without any trouble. Tanlac certainly puts new life into a man and gives him a wonderful amount of vim and energy. I don't think there can be a doubt about its being the best medicine in the world."

Tanlac is sold in Richmond by Stockton & Son; at Berea by the Welch Department Store and at College Hill by Ginter Bros.

SCHOOL CHILDREN NEED NEW BOOKS

City Superintendent John H. Payne gave the Daily Register the following Wednesday:

Nearly all of the school children at Caldwell lost their books in the fire. Many children lost all their books and many lost practically all of them. The teachers are thinking that many of these books may be in the homes of Richmond where they are practically useless. We are giving below a list of the books that are needed at this time with the hope that many people will find a copy of one or more of the texts and that they will be glad to contribute it toward relieving the situation in the city schools. If any one finds a copy of any of these books and would like to have it used by the school children please leave it at the basement of the First Baptist church between the hours of 8 and 12:30, where Miss Bessie Dudley will be glad to receive it.

WOMEN ADOPT 10,000 ORPHANS

Connecticut to Provide Foster Mothers for Little Victims of Turks.

Ten thousand little victims of Turkish brutality are to be foster mothered by the big hearted women of Connecticut as the result of appeals by Near East Relief, the former Committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief of 1 Madison avenue, New York city. The women at a meeting voted to "adopt" that number as their share of the 250,000 homeless and starving boys and girls orphaned in the massacres and deportations.

Three hundred representatives of women's organizations attended the meeting at Hartford, at which Governor Marcus F. Holcomb presided and pleaded the cause of the stricken peoples. Another speaker was Henry Morgenthau, former U. S. Ambassador to Turkey.

Assurances that the example of these noble hearted Connecticut women will be followed by similar organizations in all the other states have been received at the headquarters of the Near East Relief, 1 Madison avenue, New York city.

Bills will come up before Congress to divide the States of New York, Illinois, California and Texas.

Health the Keynote to Beauty

Beauty means so much to women—power, social triumph, admiration and love. Beauty implies good health. Who ever saw a woman racked with pain, strung along with weakness or disease, who could be called beautiful?

The woman of today in this high-strung, nervous age is continually overdoing, with the result that ills peculiar to her sex develop which, unchecked, will ruin all chances for her happiness. The natural restorative for such ailments is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for more than forty years has been recognized as a standard remedy for women's ills, and has done much to relieve pain and restore good health to women.

OLD WOMAN SWIMS

Was at One Time President of an Athletic Club.

Mrs. Eliza Steiner Eisenbeis of Pittsburgh is probably the oldest woman swimmer in the country. She is more than 80 years old.

Four years ago marked her entrance into the swimming world. She could just paddle around a little at that time, but swimming fascinated her and she soon became an expert.

Last winter she walked a mile to a swimming pool and missed but one night during the whole winter. One evening the class lacked its usual enthusiasm and spirit. The deficiency was traced to the absence of the spry old lady. Inquiry at her home brought the answer that there was a dinner and enclosure party at a friend's house which she did not care to miss.

Until last year she was president of the athletic club at the McNaughton school. She declares she will continue her swimming this winter.

You and Robinson Crusoe

One of the most persistent advertisers in the history of success was Robinson Crusoe.

He knew what he wanted—a ship—and he put up an advertisement for one.

He hung a shirt on a pole at the top of his island; that, in the language of the sea, was plain to every seafaring man.

The circulation was small, there was no other medium, but Crusoe kept at it, despite the fact that he got no inquiries for a long time.

In the end he got what he wanted, was happy, and his name and fame have come down through the ages!

Suppose Robinson Crusoe had taken down his signal after a year and declared: "Advertising doesn't pay?" Where would his story be now?

Or suppose something had whispered in his ear: "No use, Robinson—these are pretty hard times. Nobody is buying or sailing any ships while money's so tight. Better cut out your advertising until times get good again."
